

Eighth U. S. astronaut dies in plane crash in Florida from lack of oxygen

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. UPI — Marine Capt. Clifton C. Williams plunged to his death in a jet plane Thursday, the eighth U.S. astronaut to die violently. Oxygen has been a factor in half the deaths.

Series of meetings at Antioch Church

Antioch Missionary Baptist Church will hold a series of meetings starting Monday, Oct. 9, at 7:00 p.m.

The featured speaker will be Brother Eddie Sullivan who has recently returned from missionary work in Japan.

He, his wife, and four children have spent a total of five years in Japan before returning to the United States.

Brother Sullivan is well informed on all the subjects of the Bible and has vast missionary experience.

Everyone is invited to attend this series of meetings.

The 35-year-old Williams, known as "C.C.," radioed that he had an oxygen deficiency in his T38 trainer during a flight from Cape Kennedy to Brookley Air Force Base near Mobile, Ala.

"He must have blacked out from a lack of oxygen," said an informed source who asked not to be identified. "The plane must have nosed over and hit the ground at almost full throttle."

The plane plummeted onto a plantation about 15 miles northeast of Tallahassee, gouging a crater in the center of a triangle of three tall pines. The fall was so straight, witnesses said, that the pines were unscathed.

The crash appeared to be a "near vertical collision with explosion on impact," said Maj. Joe Johnson, an Air Force investigator.

A team of investigators headed by astronaut Alan Shepard, America's first man in space and now second in command of the astronaut corps, was to inspect the wreckage today.

Williams, a native of Mobile, was a crewmember of the Apollo man-on-the-moon program, but his exact mission was not clear because of the reshuffling following the flash fire that killed astronauts Virgil Grissom, Roger Chafee and Edward White in their spacecraft during a ground test at Cape Kennedy Jan. 27.

The Apollo 1 capsule was filled with pure oxygen and authorities said the astronauts were engulfed by flames before they could escape.

Williams, on a routine flight, apparently intended to visit his parents at Mobile before returning to the space center at Houston. His father, Clifton C. Williams, Sr., is superintendent of the Mobile water works.

A flight controller at Tallahassee said he heard a "mayday" — distress — signal on the emergency frequency at 1:24 p.m. EDT. Later, he said, he heard the pilot say, "I'm ejecting."

B. R. Thompson, owner of a construction firm, and W. A. Hall were cutting wood on the G. W. Humphrey plantation when they saw the plane falling "straight down."

"It didn't even hit a tree and crashed right on top of a tall pine and clay hill," said Thompson. He and Hall rushed to the scene and stamped out a small grass fire before summoning officials.

Thompson said the plane was "almost completely disintegrated. There wasn't even a part big enough to take any effort to pick up."

Astronaut Alan Beane and other officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) notified Williams' widow, Beth, at Houston, of her husband's death. The couple had a daughter, born last Jan. 6.

A former Navy test pilot, Williams was among the third group of astronauts selected by NASA in 1963. Four of those 14 men now are dead.

Hammond man is killed on U.S. 41

By United Press International

A car plunged over an embankment along dangerous U. S. 41 near Rockville early today, killing a Hammond man and raising Indiana's 1967 traffic fatality toll to at least 1,114 compared with 1,165 a year ago.

Roy L. Fellows, 25, Hammond, was killed an hour after Thursday midnight when the car in which he was riding ran off the highway and rolled down an embankment, throwing him out. The accident happened eight miles south of Rockville in Parke County.

Two persons were killed Thursday night on the state's second deadliest road, U. S. 31, northwest of Tipton when two autos collided head-on as one traveled in the wrong lane of the four-lane divided highway.

The victims were Roy Clingenpeel, 68, Flora, and Stephen Dunn, 22, Noblesville. State police said Clingenpeel was in the wrong lane when his car collided with one driven by Mrs. Linda Dunn, 20, wife of Stephen. Mrs. Dunn and the couple's 6-month-old son, Terry, were injured seriously.

Bombers hit Haiphong oil dumps

By EUGENE V. RISHER

SAIGON UPI—U. S. Fighter-bombers stepping up the North Vietnam air war struck for the third consecutive day near Red China's border and raided a big oil dump inside Haiphong sending flames and thick clouds of black smoke boiling for all the port city to see, an American spokesman said today.

The campaign to choke off war supplies apparently was having excellent results.

Informed sources said intelligence estimates indicate the flow of guns, ammunition and other battle supplies to Communist troops near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and down the Ho Chi Minh trail into South Vietnam have been cut by as much as 30 to 50 per cent.

U. S. Air Force B52 bombers flew two more raids early today against North Vietnamese positions in the DMZ, part of the continuing massive bombardment that has sent 35,000 Communist troops massed in the area staggering in retreat.

But a U. S. Marine spokesman said that North Vietnamese gunners Thursday fired 50 rounds into the battered Con Thien Leatherneck outpost guarding the frontier, killing one Marine and wounding 15 others.

Just south of Hue, Viet Cong guerrillas blew up a bridge making Highway One, the vital north-south route used to supply Marine forward posts, impassable. The cut was about two miles from the big Marine base at Phu Bai, headquarters of the 3rd Marine Division.

Engineers rushed to the site to repair the damage as quickly as possible, but it was expected to take several days.

Ike to hospital

WASHINGTON UPI—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower planned to enter Walter Reed Army Hospital late today for a routine checkup.

Brig. Gen. Robert L. Schultz, Eisenhower's aide, said the checkup was "one of a continuing series planned at a time convenient to General Eisenhower and the hospital."

Eisenhower was expected to remain at Walter Reed for about 24 hours.

South of Da Nang, a carefully laid Viet Cong booby trap killed 18 civilians today and wounded 10 other persons including two U. S. Marines.

Shortly after dawn today, a Marine jeep hit a Viet Cong mine. The two Marines inside were wounded and the jeep was destroyed. A Vietnamese bus took a bypass around the burning wreckage.

But, a spokesman said, the bypass had been mined too. The second explosion destroyed the bus, killed 18 passengers and wounded eight.

In Washington, the Pentagon followed up reports that American war casualties have climbed to 101,034, including 13,634 dead, by pointing out about half the wounded do not require hospital treatment, and of the ones that do, 80 per cent are returned to active duty.

The American deaths are still far short of those in the three-year Korean conflict in which 33,629 were killed in combat. About 6 million men served in Korea. There have been about 1 million American servicemen in Vietnam.

State will abandon storage at Atterbury

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—Indiana plans to abandon its surplus property storage operation at Camp Atterbury.

The decision was announced Thursday by Commissioner John T. Hatchett of the Indiana Department of Administration after Governor Branigan approved the changes involved in the decision.

Hatchett said the buildings at Atterbury, an idled World War II training and hospital center, are beginning to require expensive repair and a survey showed that a state-owned central warehouse in Indianapolis was not being fully used.

"The question was whether we should spend money to repair federally owned buildings when our warehouse was not being fully utilized and it is a building we own and have to maintain," Hatchett said.

The federal surplus items stored at Atterbury range from paper clips to printing presses and lathes and are primarily acquired and distributed for schools and hospitals, which are eligible to receive them free. The state charges a handling and storage fee, however, and Hatchett said he believes the fee would be reduced by the change in storage site.

"Also, the Indianapolis warehouse is more centrally located and will be easier for persons to reach," Hatchett said. "Most of our business is done with schools and there are more schools in the northern part of the state."

Hatchett said the survey made on costs of storing also showed nothing was saved by buying canned goods, paper products and other items for redistribution to state institutions.

"We discovered we can get prices just as cheap to us if the vendor delivers to the institutions as to a central warehouse," Hatchett said. "That means it is actually cheaper because we don't have the added cost of handling."

A further change involves the federal surplus food program for state institutions. Hatchett said since the Department of Public Instruction has warehouses over the state for this purpose, the foods will be distributed through them instead of the Indianapolis warehouse.

He said $10,808 will be spent to remodel the Indianapolis warehouse to handle the surplus property now stockpiled at Atterbury.

He said some of the employees who live and work in the Atterbury area have objected to the longer drive. But they apparently got little sympathy from Hatchett, who commutes daily between his home in Bloomington and the state capitol.

a woman's view

(By GAY PAULEY)

NEW YORK UPI — The scene was a news conference. Marlene Dietrich held prior to her first appearance on the New York stage.

A reporter asked if there were anything in her professional career that she had wanted but not achieved.

Said Miss Dietrich, "I never wanted to play Joan of Arc if that's what you mean."

Once in a personal interview I asked her how she kept so young-looking. She looked me straight in the eyes and answered, "My dear, I ain't that old!"

This woman who promises to go down in history as an eternal symbol of glamour has that other side to her too—the quick, intelligent, often killing answer. It makes you wonder why you ever asked the question.

One long-time fan and student of La Dietrich thinks the actress should rate more than that glamour tag—"She's probably one of the most brilliant women of our time," is the way Leslie Frewin, a British publisher and businessman, puts it. Dietrich, is Frewin's personal challenge, although he has known her only casually "off and on over the years." He's not sure why the fascination except that "I'm intrigued at how this woman could remain at the top when really she's never displayed herself as a great actress."

The challenge resulted in 1955 in his first biography of Dietrich, "Blond Venus," published in England only. Now, he has brought her life and career up to date in "Dietrich," which he published here and abroad, by unintentional coincidence just before the actress opens her one-woman show on Broadway October ninth.

"I wanted to find out what makes the lady tick," said Frewin in an interview during a trip to New York. "Did I? I don't know."

But he does know that, as he sees her, "She's way ahead of the Jet Set, the nubile nonentities and the synthetic sycophants of the silver screen of 1967 . . . She is, to me, still the loveliest woman I've ever seen. And a mistress of her art."

Frewin's work is by no means an expose. Miss Dietrich had asked for some deletions, he said, but he refused because "if people take from the public, they must not expect not to have comment and criticism."

He told of the time La Dietrich was going to be part of the program of the annual Oscar presentations in Hollywood. Days before, he said, she checked around to see what other feminine stars were wearing and found most would be in whites or pastels.

"Then," said Miss Dietrich, "Mamma will wear black."

Woman to woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK UPI—Look out, you parents who run adolescents with an iron fist and inflexible rules.

Say the teen-ager asks you a couple of times a month to put a little stretch into one of the rules, to make an exception for a special occasion, to discuss reasons a rule should be changed.

"I said 'no' and don't question it," you say to the boy about to become a man or to the girl about to become a woman.

Maybe you censor their reading, their mail, screen all their friends in a suspicious, never-trusting way.

Helen Southard, psychologist and author of "Sex Before 20" says such children probably won't know how to handle freedom when they get one foot out of your nest.

Mrs. Southard is research director of the national board of the Young Women's Christian Association (YWCA) and a board member of the Sex Information and Education Council of the U.S. (SIECUS).

As she sees it, when a teen-ager brought up this way gets too much freedom all of a sudden, he feels inadequate and becomes a person unable to handle himself.

He's apt to become sexually active as an adolescent. He wants what he wants when he wants it in this area, regardless of how this may hurt someone.

Mrs. Southard doesn't believe in generalizing about teen-agers, but she feels a child must learn gradually how to free self from parents — gradually growing away.

"The ideal," she said, "is freedom within limits. That way the child arrives at adolescence knowing that parents trust him."

On the sex education trail for more than a decade, Mrs. Southard is in touch with teen-agers, parents, teachers, clergymen and others concerned with problems of youth.

Today she detects more confusion among the teen-agers on the matter of sex.

"They seem more mixed up than were teen-agers 10 years ago," she said.

There's a feeling among a great many girls, for example, that there is something wrong with them if they don't have a steady by 15 or 16. Some who feel they are not mixed up already have determined that the way out of the dilemma is to get involved the sex way, living up to expectations.

Mrs. Southard estimated that fewer than 20 per cent of the teen-agers think it is wrong to "go all the way," with a boy—if you really and truly love him.

Hints from Heloise

by HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Mother:

Look at my blue jeans! It's all the fad now . . .

Your Daughter

Dear Folks:

I found this note on my typewriter. Along with her blue jeans . . . They were fringed on the bottom, and so adorable I decided to fringe mine, too. Here's the easiest way I found to do it:

Take a razor blade and remove the hem. Wet a rag and iron the hem out straight. This is MOST important.

If you have any starch handy, give that a hit and miss, too. Then iron the hem straight. Remember that hem has probably been there a long time and you want the fringe to hang STRAIGHT.

I literally cut the double side seams out and then started pulling the threads loose as if you were making a one-inch fringe on a napkin. Then put those jeans on. Darling!

Also, when the jeans wear in the knees, cut them off and make fringed shorts out of them.

And what price teenagers? Perhaps they keep us young. (Or do they make us old? I can't figure that one out.)

This idea is especially wonderful for those jeans we mothers wear which are too short as it lets them down an inch or so . . .

And if our daughters and sons are going to start a fad, why shouldn't we join the group? Nothing lost and it's free, too . . .

Another Mother

Dear Heloise:

Children love to display their school papers and art work. Get some small decorative magnets and put their work on the door of your refrigerator and freezer.

As they bring home new papers, they don't mind if the old are thrown away and new ones put up.

This makes a nice big bulletin board for the whole family to view.

Mrs. Bruce Presley,

Dear Heloise:

The other day I found a solution for my skirt linings. I lined my skirt with an old half slip.

I just took out the elastic and opened the left side seam for the zipper and sewed it to the waist band of my new skirt. Worked great and I liked it much better than regular lining.

Band Boosters of Reelsville met Tuesday evening in the music room for an election of officers for this new school year. They are as follows: John Barber, President; James Lindsay, Vice President; Mrs. Margaret Wilson, Secretary; and Mrs. James Lindsay, Treasurer.

Plans are being made for a smorgasbord in the near future. We are hoping the smorgasbord is a big success so that the remaining balance on the uniforms can be paid off.

The Reelsville P.T.O. held their first meeting of the year September 11 in the school cafeteria. At this meeting a report of Boys and Girls State were given by Penny Hisey and Rick Raab. New teachers were introduced by the principal, Keith Helms. The next meeting will be at 7:30 on October 16. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Mildred Hervey, Putnam County Probation Officer. The student body would like to welcome back Raymond Peeler and Steven Hunter who have been absent because of mononucleosis.

The advent of the Harkness Ballet troupe to Clowes Memorial Hall on the campus of Butler University is of special interest to Reelsville's college bound seniors. Accompanied by Mrs. Jane Eckardt and Mrs. Helen Kash, the seniors, will attend a student preview-performance on Monday October 16.

Foreign News Commentary

(By ALDO TRIPPINI)

MADRID UPI—Little more than a week remains before Spain's first popular election since the civil war, but there is no resemblance to the election fever familiar to most western capitals at such times.

In fact, the only real excitement stirred by the election of 18 per cent of the Spanish Cortes parliament Oct. 10 is an anti-election ferment by some opponents of the Franco regime who are urging voters to stay away from the polls in protest.

No election campaigns have been started by the 342 candidates running for the 102 "family representation" seats in the Cortes and only a very few have put up small posters urging voters to elect them.

Some posters have been put up urging voters to go the polls "for a Spanish democracy," but that is about the extent of the pro-election advertisements.

By contrast, the opposition, some organizations and even a state-run metal workers union have taken a definitely hostile attitude toward the elections.

A technically illegal group of 40 representatives of workers, students, teachers, housewives, priests, writers, artists and several other classes which calls itself the "Madrid Civic Committee" has distributed typewritten leaflets urging Spaniards to abstain from voting because the election "prevents the different social sectors from presenting their own candidates."

Typical of the general lack of excitement stirred by the candidates is Madrid where 13 candidates are running for the two seats available for the entire province.

So far only one candidate, Fermin Cabal Menendez, has staged an election campaign, with small posters showing his portrait and his political program.

All the other candidates were conspicuous by their absence from Madrid walls.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A PROUD FATHER, unaware of the sophistication of the youngsters of today, set out to acquaint his small daughter with the value of money. First he explained the variety of coins, then he lined up a penny, a nickel, a dime, a quarter and a dollar bill, and asked her which one she'd choose for herself. She eyes him speculatively for a moment, then said, "I'll take the copper one, Daddy—but I think I'll take the little piece of paper along to wrap it in."

Advertising man David Ogilvie likes the story of the man who asked the clerk at a Madison Avenue gourmet shop, "How much is your best caviar this week?" "Forty-two dollars a pound," was the reply. "Forty-two dollars!" gasped the would-be purchaser. "Why, that shop near the Plaza is selling the best caviar for thirty dollars a pound." "So why don't you buy it there?" asked the clerk. "They're all out of it," admitted the man. "Hah," scoffed the clerk. "When we're out of it, we sell it for FIVE DOLLARS a pound!"

"The south and west slopes are subjected to more severe drying," he says. Those slopes are hit more directly by the sun's rays and the sun shines on them longer.

♣ K Q J 4 3 2 ♣ 6
1. You can make sure of the contract by winning the heart with the ace, drawing trumps, ruffing a heart, and then leading a low club from dummy. If South follows with the ten or queen, you win with the king and can lose only a club trick, so assume he follows low. When you now finesse the eight, North is bound to hand you the twelfth trick, even though he wins with the ten. Whatever he returns, you get either a ruff and discard or a free finesse in diamonds or clubs.
You can also accomplish your purpose by leading the jack of clubs from dummy instead of the deuce, and, in fact, this play gives you a chance to make an overtrick if South has the queen. 2. You can't be sure of the outcome, but there is only one correct way to play the hand. Win the heart with the ace and return a club. If South goes up with the ace, the contract is made provided the clubs are divided normally, that is, 3-3 or 4-2. So let's suppose that South ducks, holding the A-10-9-8. Win the club and lead a diamond, ducking in dummy. This play makes the contract if the suit is divided 3-2, the normal expectancy. There is a far greater chance of finding the diamonds divided 3-2 (68% of the time) than finding the clubs divided 3-3 (36% of the time). You can't afford to give up a diamond at trick two because that would bring you to only eight tricks even if the suit were divided 3-2. You have to lead a club from dummy first. Of course, North may win the club with the ace and return a heart, in which case you will need a 3-3 club division. This is not a healthy prospect, but all you can then do is hope for the best.

The approach to the play is simply a matter of combining percentages with logic. You may not make the contract by playing in the way suggested, but it offers by far the best chance.

DePauw has the will and reasons to beat ICC opponent Evansville

There are innumerable reasons for the DePauw Tigers to be "up" when they bang into the University of Evansville Saturday at 2 p.m. in Reitz Bowl.

For one thing Coach Tom Mont's crew has a 3-0 string going. That hasn't happened at the Greencastle school since 1951 when the Tigers peeled off a string of seven straight.

Furthermore, DePauw, with all its trying, has beaten

Evansville only twice in the past 15 games and 19 years, odds that even Harold Stassen might find difficult to dismiss. The overall series is 8-12-1, Evansville.

And finally, no one on the present Tigers team can forget last year's confounding final five minutes. The Aces swiped that game, 14-7, with two quick TD's set up by a pair of pass interceptions after being held to 116 yards total offense.

"Mentally, we're in good shape for Saturday," Mont reported at mid-week. "And physically we're in relatively good shape. We didn't lose anyone against Valparaiso, and we've got some men on the way back."

What this means is that aside from the questionable situation with halfback John Sacramento, Mont will have all his studs ready. "Sacramento, who was in for one play last week, is responding to treatment, but we don't know if he'll be ready to play." He has strained ligaments in his knee.

The 5-9, 180-pound junior from Waukegan, Ill., had been the team's rushing leader prior to the Valpo game, moving at a 5.4 YPC clip. Fortunately, Mont discovered sophomore John Long in the nick of time and he finished the Valpo game with 158 yards total offense, not a bad replacement. Long is probably faster than Sacramento, but he's 10 pounds lighter.

This week the Tigers have had very little contact, trying to keep their health intact. "With the injuries we've had, we've gone about as deep as we can and continue to put men with experience on the field," Mont points out.

Mont expects linebacker Bill Scaife to shed his cast this weekend. And there's a likelihood that another key linebacker, John Douglas, may be back in the thick of it before the month is over.

Mont, whose 1962 and 1963 clubs own the sole wins over Evansville since 1938, sees the Aces' main threat in their physical size and the passing of conference-leading Dick Minnette. "And we know Joe Loge is a good thrower from our past experience," Mont adds.

"Evansville has one of the best complete backfields in the conference, too," Mont admits. "Each man is a threat. The Aces have 215-pound fullback Ken Mills, 175-pound halfback Don Crane, and 190-pound Alan Per. Per is one of the three fastest backs in the ICC," says Mont.

And Mike Woodward is another man who bugs Mont. It was Woodward who dumped in a 42-yard field goal in 1965 that put Evansville on top 3-0. That's the way it stayed until an explosive final 189 seconds—similar to the 1966 escapade—handed the Aces a 17-0 victory. And Woodward is still kicking. He had a 43-yarder in a 31-10 loss at Ball State Saturday.

DePauw has a kicker too though he hasn't unwound one yet for more than 30 yards. Tom Miller, senior offensive end, has three to his credit so far. Saturday he tied an ICC record for most field goals in one game. His two against Valpo went for 27 and 29 yards.

The game Saturday will be broadcast by both of Greencastle's FM radio stations.

DePauw drops soccer game

DePauw's hard luck soccer team dropped another close one yesterday, a 2-1 verdict to unbeaten Indiana University at Bloomington.

The Tigers, losers now of three matches by a total of five points, will be idle until an Oct. 11 (4 p.m.) home match with Indiana State and an Old Gold Day morning encounter here with Purdue.

DePauw and the Hoosiers battled to a 0-0 halftime score in Bloomington's sweltering heat Wednesday. But the IUvians didn't wait long to get on the board when the second half opened.

The eventual winners kicked in a tally with 4:20 gone in the third quarter and added their finale 60 seconds later.

DePauw, with 2:20 left in the third period, fought through the Indiana defense and zoomed its single counter in on the footwork of Larry Tasha. He got assistance from John Current.

Indiana got 18 shots at Tiger goalie Price Ivins. DePauw wound up with five attempts.

Talk on first

BOSTON UPI—What do two MVP's talk about when they meet?

Carl Yastrzemski of the Boston Red Sox and Orlando Cepeda of the St. Louis Cardinals, who could easily wind up with the MVP awards in their respective leagues this year, talked money when they met at first base during the first inning of the second game.

Yastrzemski drew a walk and when he reached base Cepeda said to him: "Did you get your $100,000 contract for next year?" "Yeah," replied the Boston left fielder. "Did you get yours?"

"No," said Cepeda, turning his attention back to the ball game.

Boston evens series; odds drop to 9-5 for Cards

ST. LOUIS UPI — They've each raked in a pot with an ace, so now it's an even-up World Series as they switch to the home of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Jim Lonborg took care of that with his one-hit, 5-0 victory for the Boston Red Sox in Thursday's second game in Boston and the Cardinals' big chance to take command of the series now is gone at least, for the present.

When the series resumes here with the third game Saturday, the Cards still will be the series favorites but the 3-1 odds now have slumped to 9-5.

With Nelson Briles hurling for St. Louis and Gary Bell for Boston in the third straight matchup of righthanders in this World Series, the Cards will be favored to win the third game at 3-2.

The Cards can only regret the big chance that's gone—swept away by Lonborg's whiplash right arm as he yielded only an eighth-inning double to Julian Javier, and by Carl Yastrzemski's flashing bat which detonated two homers worth four runs.

Had the Cards won that one, they would have come home needing to win only two of three in their own ball yard to win the series for the second time in four years.

In the opener, the Cards' Bob Gibson was the ace as he hurled a six-hit victory, but this time the "miracle" Basox were the ones who had their ace ready. Boston, its belief in the "miracle of 1967" rejuvenated, was booming with optimism.

Manager Dick Williams put it this way as he named his pitchers for all the St. Louis games: "Bell will pitch Saturday, Jose Santiago on Sunday—and then Lonnie Lonborg will wrap it up for us on Monday."

Cards skipper Red Schoendienst said he will follow Briles in the the pitching order with Steve Carlton on Sunday. Plenty of eyebrows went up when he said it, because it's hard to picture St. Louis not using Gibson on Sunday with three days rest—especially if the Sox win on Saturday.

The Cards, of course, were not alone in talking about what might have been in the wake of Thursday's game.

The no-hitter that didn't happen was the biggest might-have-been and Lonborg looked back regretfully.

Lanky Jim said he developed a blister on the thumb of his pitching hand about the middle of the game and had to vary his delivery somewhat. He said he "might have gotten Javier if it wasn't for the blister." It's something he'll always wonder about.

For Yastrzemski, of course, there were no personal regrets. The American League's triple crown batting king went 0-for-four in the first game and punished himself with post-game batting practice.

He broke the scoreless tie with his first homer in the fourth inning, a drive into the lower right field stands off Card starter Dick Hughes. His second homer was a tremendous 450-foot drive into the right-center bleachers in the seventh with two mates aboard off Card reliever Joe Hoerner.

The other Sox run was unearned and was driven in by Rico Petrocelli with a sacrifice fly in the sixth.

Pacers beaten by Pipers 99-98

NAPANEE, Ind. UPI — Tom Washington's pair of free throws Thursday night gave the Pittsburgh Pipers a 99-98 overtime victory over the Indiana Pacers in an American Basketball Association pre-season exhibition game here.

Washington collected six of his 22 points in the overtime after the Pacers came from behind to tie the score 89-89 at the end of regulation time. The Pacers had trailed by as much as 27 points, 42-15, midway through the second period.

Connie Hawkins of the Pipers led both teams in scoring with 28 points.

Roger Brown, with 21, led four Pacers in double figures. Jerry Harkness had 17, George Peoples 13 and Matthew Aitch 12.

The loss left the Pacers with a 2-2 pre-season record and an even split in their two games so far with the Pipers. The two teams will meet again Saturday night at Scottsburg and Sunday afternoon at Madison.

Agrees to fight

NEW YORK UPI—Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, agreed Thursday to fight Sandro Mazzinghi of Italy in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden Dec. 8, with the winner in line for a shot at the middleweight title currently held by Emile Griffith.

Big Ten football teams to meet loop foes Saturday

CHICAGO UPI — Big Ten football teams turn to conference action this weekend, after posing a 9-10 record against non-league foes, and still there'll be angels aplenty for the league matches.

Michigan State, for instance, will be going against Wisconsin in an attempt to extend the third longest winning streak in league history and the only unbeaten teams left in the conference, Purdue and Indiana, will be facing conference rivals.

To wrap up the schedule, there'll be four games against non-conference opponents, and the Big Ten was favored to win only two of these four.

Michigan State, defending conference champion but now beaten in its only two starts this year, was a three-touchdown choice to trip Wisconsin, still seeking its first win after two games, in one of three of league games.

The Spartans will be seeking their 15th straight Big Ten win, which would equal the second best conference winning record, by Michigan in 1946-48 and besurprised only by the 17 straight wins hung up by Ohio State in 1954-56.

Purdue, victorious over Texas A&M and Notre Dame so far will run into an upstart Northwestern team, with a 1-1 record so far against two opponents ranked in the top 10, and the Boilermakers were a three-touchdown choice.

"I've checked the records," Wildcat coach Alex Agase said,

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. UPI — A field of 111 contestants try again today for 30 berths on the $5 million PGA tour next year. Among the players in the 144-hole qualifying tournament are former U.S. and British amateur champion Deane Beman, Marty Fleckman and Britain's Tony Jackoin.

Clovers and Cubs drop Cross Country meets

Cloverdale dropped their third cross country meet of the season against eleven wins when they were defeated the second time by Edgewood. Edgewood hosted the meet and captured 22 points while Cloverdale earned second place with 42 and Martinsville third with 60 points.

Edgewood's Warthan set the spectacular pace around the two mile plus grass course and finished almost a full minute ahead of the second place runner by stopping the watch at 9:55. Teammates Smith and Baynes finished in second and third place.

Cloverdale's Sutherland eased into fourth with a 11:01 clocking. McKamey sixth, Barker eighth, Elmore tenth, and Steele fourteenth. County champion Steve Brown missed the meet with a cold.

Martinsville Edwards finished fifth in the meet with Figg and Arthur in seventh and ninth positions.

The Clovers will travel to Terre Haute tomorrow for the Wabash Valley Meet and then host Edgewood again next Thursday at 4:00 p.m.

Greencastle High School's harriers had to settle for a third place spot in a three way cross country meet held at Rockville Thursday evening. Rockville finished four runners in the top ten to score 23 points, Seeger placed second with 48 points, and the Cubs third with 51.

Rockville supports a hearty 17-1 record, beaten only by Cloverdale in an early season meet, while Seeger boasts a 15-2 season record.

Rockville's Jeffries, Berry, and Fischer finished 1-2-3 in the meet with 10:23, 10:36, and 10:39 times.

Seeger's Stevin took fourth place honors and Greencastle's Don Dowty captured fifth place. Teammates Hecko, Mount, Cook, and Gray finished 8, 9, 12, and 17 for the Cubs.

Greencastle is 7-6 for the season now with the Western Indiana Conference championship meet coming up at Terre Haute Tuesday.

Gerstmeier topples Brazil

By United Press International

Eighth-ranked East Chicago Washington and unbeaten Terre Haute Gerstmeier were the top winners in Indiana high school football Thursday night while Fort Wayne North celebrated its first victory by knocking city foe Dwenger from the perfect ranks.

East Chicago's Senators shut out Hammond Noll, 27-0, and Gerstmeier made it five in a row in the Western Conference by shading tied but previously unbeaten Brazil, 26-25.

East Chicago, beaten only by Hammond Morton, is 4-1 for the season.

North, loser of its first four games, eked out a 20-19 win over Dwenger, which had won its first three games. The Redskins led 20-7 at the half.
